

BAN ON DANCES BY ENDEAVORERS DEFIED BY YOUNG

Poughkeepsie Church Members Agog Over Jazz Plans
Pastor Condemns.

(Special to The Evening World.)

POUGHKEEPSIE, Feb. 18.—To dance or not to dance and still be a member of the Christian Endeavorers is the big question in this city to-day. The Christian Endeavor Society of the First Presbyterian Church is to give a dance this evening in Hall's Memorial Hall. The society, or the greater part of its members, having decided to take this step, has invited all the other Christian Endeavor Societies of the other churches to attend.

The young folks of the First Presbyterian Church decided that this was the best way to break the ice, and after quietly sounding some of the members in other churches made up their minds to go ahead. They anticipated, it is said, some opposition from some of the members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, but were not entirely prepared for the monkey wrench that was thrown into the works last night at the meeting in the Tabernacle Baptist Church, of which the Rev. C. Wendall Wilson is the pastor.

The Rev. Mr. Wilson, who has a large and prominent congregation and whose church belongs to the Church Federation, in which are the majority of the churches of the city, announced that if any members of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Tabernacle Baptist Church attended the dance, the church would withdraw from the Federation.

He did not say what would be done with the offending young men or women who attended, but added that if any of the other Christian Endeavor Societies attended in a body or as a society, the Tabernacle Baptist Church would withdraw.

The result of this announcement has caused much discussion among the members of the various churches of all denominations. Many of the older members of churches side with the pastor and say the young people will find it hard to remain good Christian Endeavorers and take part in the dancing. A few of the young persons who were enthusiastic about the dance have been inclined to listen to the talk of the older members, but the great majority is still strong for the dance and say they will attend this evening.

In Dr. Wilson's own church those members who are likely to attend, or were talking of attending, are worried as to what disciplinary measures may be adopted in case they do.

In the mean time the programme has been completed and there is plenty of jazz in it for the young people.

FAILS FOR $93,230

HAS $10 IN BANK

Cleveland L. Waterbury Owen

Loan of $30,000 to H. P. Whitney. Cleveland L. Waterbury, who lives at No. 64 East 66th Street and is in the advertising business at No. 50 East 42d Street, to-day filed in the Federal District Court a voluntary petition in bankruptcy, giving his liabilities as $93,230 and his assets as "10 in bank."

Among the creditors listed are H. P. Whitney, $20, for a loan in 1914; estate of James W. Waterbury, $24,500, for loans in 1909 and 1910; Evans & Barnhill, $18,268, for overdrawn commissions; Granville F. Waterbury, $5,000; Morris Plan Corporation of New York, $2,000, and Kew Hotel Corporation, $1,000.

DOOR GOES ON STRIKE

HALTING B. R. T. TRAIN

Get Without Guard Causes Delay

A door that would not open caused a fifteen-minute delay this morning on the B. R. T. train that left New York Avenue at 10 o'clock and should have reached City Hall at 10:25.

It was a train in which a single guard operates the doors of more than one car and uses a telephonic device for calling the stations in the guardless cars. The guard in the second car and at every stop the doors of the front car refused to budge. Passengers who wanted to get out banged the doors in vain. Others who wanted to get in could not enter the front car. At each station it was necessary for the motorman to leave his box and open the doors himself.

CORK MEN AND WOMEN TO PLEDGE LOYALTY TO COLLINS.

The men and women of County Cork in and around New York and their thousands of friends will assemble tonight at Donovan's Grand Circle Hall, 525 and 510 West 58th Street, at a reunion of the Cork Men's Society called for the purpose of pledging loyalty to Michael Collins and his colleagues in support of the Irish Free State. Two of the stewards who fought in Collins' army on Irish soil will be present. They are the Messrs. McCarthy, brothers, Egan, O'Sullivan and Donovan. They are loyal to their chief.

JOHN FISHER, EVENING WORLD

EMPLOYEE, DIES.

John Fisher, a member of the circulation staff of The Evening World, died Thursday at Otisville, N. Y. Mr. Fisher was connected with The World and Evening World for seventeen years. During the war, while in a training camp, his health failed. The funeral will be from the home of his brother, No. 126 Tompkins Avenue, Brooklyn, tomorrow, at 3 P. M. Interment will be in Mount Hebron Cemetery.

News of Wireless Talking Activities and Developments, Musical and Other Programmes of Broadcasting Stations and Answers to Queries Will Be Found in These Columns.

By Capt. Robert Scofield Wood
(D. F. C., M. C., Croix de Guerre with four palms; formerly Commander 15th Squadron, Royal Air Force.)

MISS AILEEN STANLEY, THE
"PHONOGRAPH GIRL."

Miss Aileen Stanley, popularly known as the "Phonograph Girl," will start on "The Evening World Radio Circuit" when she sings to Radioland from the Westinghouse Studio, W. J. Z., at Newark this evening. Through special arrangement by The Evening World Miss Stanley will appear at all of the large wireless broadcasting stations east of the Mississippi.

Miss Stanley, aside from being one of the most popular of vaudeville songbirds, is the winner of several beauty contests. Her direct features and songs are particularly entertaining and she possesses a personality so pleasing that she could almost get by without singing a note. Her Caledonian folk songs are so natural that one can almost see the mist and get the aroma of good whiskey while listening to her. Aileen sings for most of the large phonograph companies in America. She is always popular with her audiences, whether theatrical, phonograph or radio.

Following her first appearance for the radio fans a short time ago she received several hundred letters from them requesting an early return. She is now one of the "invisible audience's" shining stars.

On the radio circuit Miss Stanley will appear at the Chicago Westinghouse Studio, K. Y. W., to broadcast her latest song hits to the folk of the Great Lakes region and Canada during the week of Feb. 20. She will sing in turn at St. Louis, Washington, Pittsburgh, New York and Boston. The exact dates of these appearances will be announced later.

The Chicago programme is broadcast on Central Time, which is from 9 P. M. to midnight according to Eastern standards.

HELPFUL SPRING HINTS.

Miss Margery Wells, The Evening World's fashion expert, is going to give her second lecture this evening on fashion and how to dress. If you are real quiet she may tell you something about the coming Easter styles and a lot of other things that may be helpful when you try to get ready for the spring. For the benefit of those who are late or not able to hear Miss Wells deliver her lecture from W. J. Z., it will be printed in the magazine section of The Evening World on Monday.

Many of the people who are most interested in becoming members of the great radio audience live so far from the broadcasting stations that a crystal set is of no use to them. There are others who want to invest in sets that will give them better service. For the benefit of all those concerned the third set is being published. This set has a dependable range of 100 miles and can be bought and assembled for about $75. The usual Evening World picture diagram will be published for the hook-up of this set during the early part of next week. This set consists of one short wave regenerative receiver, $25; one control panel, $12; one vacuum tube, $5; one B battery, $3; one spark, $2; one set of phones, $4; one antennae series condenser, $5; aerial, ball insulators, leading insulator and ground clamp, $1.

By shopping around one may be able to do better on the above prices, which are only approximate.

Questions and Answers

L. Runch, Blauvelt, N. Y., writes: "Will a 150-foot aerial, loose coupler and crystal detector, bring in radio concerts? What other receivers must I use? Can you give me the name of a book on how to construct a radio, phone receiving set?" Ans. You will have to use a variable and a fixed condenser in the proper hook-up with the instruments that you have mentioned, also a pair of earphones. You should get a pair of 2,000 ohm phones for your set. A trip to the nearest public library will disclose a wealth of information such as you seek.

Albert Techt, New York City, inquires: "Can I use a loop aerial to get the same results as an outdoor aerial without getting more equipment?" Ans. No. You will need a special circuit, with radio frequency amplification, and the loop will not be as efficient as the outdoor aerial.

R. B. Ridgely, Park, N. J., inquires: "With De Forest 225 set and a two-wire 90-foot aerial, should I hear WJZ clearly?" Ans. Yes. If you tune your instrument and follow the directions for properly erecting the aerial and grounding the set. The radius of this set is about fifty miles.

Jack Caswell, New York City, writes: "What other metals besides brass and aluminum can be used for the construction of the plates in a variable condenser?" Ans. Copper or phosphor-bronze may be used.

T. O'B., Jersey City, writes: "Will an aerial strung parallel to a line of overhead high tension cables and an electric street car line have any bad effects on my reception?" Ans. You probably will get some interference. If you can arrange to have your aerial run at right angles to these lines you will miss most of the interference that your aerial will pick up if it runs parallel to the lines.

Charles H. Epler, Philadelphia, Pa., writes: "Will you let me know what apparatus to buy which will enable me to hear the programme broadcast in New York? Also let me know whether an electrician is required to install the set?" Ans. The apparatus that will give the best results will be a regenerative receiver, with a two-step amplifier, a 200-foot aerial and good ground connection. Use a six-volt storage battery to light the filaments of the vacuum tubes, a loud speaker and 2,000 ohm phones. An electrician need not be hired to install the set if you are handy with tools. The Fire Underwriters and Insurance law of Philadelphia are not familiar to us, so suggest addressing them in reference to their requirements.

A. Harry, James Street, city, inquires: "What can I do to get more than telegraph messages with a crystal set that I purchased for $25?" Ans. The information you give is so meagre that to recommend a change that might help you I would have to devote a series of articles to every section of your instrument. Write again and be a little more explicit as to details—the height, length and type of aerial, the age of your machine, the hook-up, etc.

TOOL BROKER IS BANKRUPT.
A voluntary petition in bankruptcy was filed to-day in the Federal Court by Joseph P. Squiglis of No. 237 West 10th Street, a tool broker dealing largely with France. His liabilities are given as $123,146 and his assets as $75,050.

Justice's Will Leaves Estate Vaulted at $500,000—Several Other Bequests.

The will of former Justice Josiah T. Marean of the Supreme Court, which was filed in Brooklyn to-day, provided an income of $12,000 for his widow, Mrs. Elizabeth R. Marean, with the stipulation that if this sum was not sufficient the executors were to increase it to $15,000. In addition, Mrs. Marean received the contents of the home at Green's Farms, Conn., and all furnishings in the apartment at the Hotel Bessert, Brooklyn, in which they had lived; also all his automobiles.

The date of the will was June 10, 1915, but a codicil, dated the following day, revoked a bequest of $3,000 to his chauffeur, Richard Gallagher of Norwalk, Conn., who had notified the Justice of his intention of leaving his employ.

There were bequests to various members of the family and to those who had served the testator during his Justiceship. The estate was said to be valued at about $500,000. Justice Marean died on Feb. 8 at Winter Park, Fla., at the age of eighty.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Feb. 18.—Telegraphic communication over the wires along the New York Central lines between here and Syracuse was completely cut off to-day when fire that followed a freight wreck near Pierrepont Manor melted the wires. A railroad bridge at the scene of the wreck, twenty miles south of here, was reported on fire.

Details of the accident were lacking, but it was understood that several cars had been burned after a real end collision.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Feb. 18.—In fear of his life for having tipped off the police and caused the arrest of five alleged confidence men, William Werner, President of the William Werner Company, No. 119 Hale Avenue, Brooklyn, has left Jacksonville. He accused the prisoners of trying to bunco him out of $1,000,000.

It is not known whether he has returned to Brooklyn or gone to some other resort in the State. While he was here he was constantly guarded by men furnished by the Sheriff and a guard stood at the door when he testified.
